

Struggle Buggy

Struggle Buggy is the UK's finest Good-Time Blues band playing the urban blues of the 30's and 40's, along with Hokum, Ragtime, and Jug Band Blues with a little Jazz. Western Swing and even Calypso thrown in for good luck! Blues was originally intended to be party music and Struggle Buggy are determined to bring the fun back to the Blues!

Struggle Buggy's last album "Tear em Down" received worldwide airplay and was reviewed in both British and European publications.

The band have performed at venues and festivals across the UK - from Skegness Rock & Blues Festival, Holmfirth Festival of Folk, The Great British R'n'B Festival (Colne) to Congleton Jazz and Blues, Dart Music Festival and SummerTyne Americana Festival; as well as venues such as The Live Theatre, Blues with Bottle (Kent) and the prestigious Brook's Blues Club in London.

"I did see Struggle Buggy...and was very impressed. A heady mixture of Country Blues, Ragtime and Jug Band music the magnificently attired quartet kicked up quite a storm..." Rocking Magpie Blog – Review of Stanley Blues Festival 2015.

Struggle Buggy describe themselves as 'an acoustic 'good-time' blues band, playing Delta, Ragtime, Hokum, Jug band with... a little Chicago blues thrown in for good luck!' Their aim is to bring 'fun' back to the blues, and the album 'Tear'em Down' certainly does that.
